

Oceanus

Canvas

Oceanus ship's cloth combines the lighter weight and longevity of a modern polyester fabric with the color, texture, and hand of a traditional cotton ship's cloth. Warp oriented in construction and lightly finished for a soft hand, Oceanus is woven with solution dyed fiber for permanent and consistent color from lot to lot. Developed in conjunction with Nat Wilson, the traditional sailmaking authority from East Boothbay, Maine, Oceanus is a good choice for tall ships, training vessels, and traditional sailing yachts.
